Preface

The Public Libraries Act, 1984 requires a public library board to provide, in cooperation with other boards, a comprehensive and efficient public library service that reflects the community's unique needs.

Libraries and the Law was prepared to assist public library board trustees and staff in coping with the variety of legislation impacting on their responsibility to manage and operate a public library service in their community.

INTRODUCTION

A fundamental principle of local government in Canada is that both municipal organizational forms and special purpose bodies are creatures of the provincial government. Provincial law creates municipalities; municipalities are given the power to pass by-laws regulating a great variety of local operations, including the conduct of certain local special purpose bodies. Public library boards are local special purpose bodies created by the province in response to requests from local municipalities. A public library board is therefore a separate legal entity from its local municipal council, but heavily dependent upon it, and is considered to be, for all intents and purposes, a municipal body.

As an entity created by law (as opposed to a natural person), a public library board can only perform those activities that are explicitly authorized by Acts of the Ontario Legislature. A public library board is legally a corporation, which allows it to perform a broad range of activities that do not need to be spelled out in detail for public library boards per se. The limitation upon boards as corporations is referred to in the Consolidated Encyclopedic Digest (Title 36, vol. 6, p. 73, paragraph 56), "A Corporation cannot do what it likes with its property, but must deal with it according to the laws governing its constitution." These express limitations mean, in practical terms, that a legal interpretation of the laws governing boards and corporations must be sought if a library board wishes to undertake activities which are not explicitly permitted.

This citator lists federal and Ontario statutes and regulations and Canadian case law having some relevance to public libraries. We have attempted to identify and cite law which applies directly to Ontario public libraries. The more difficult task has been to include law which applies indirectly. We have noted such law as relates to public libraries within a more general context. For instance, under both the Municipal Act and the Municipal Affairs Act, the term "municipalities" includes local boards, and "local boards" includes, explicitly and implicitly, public library boards. Thus the provisions of these two Acts may also be construed to apply to public library boards. In Acts such as the Corporations Act, provisions will apply to public libraries unless expressly exempted. In all instances in which two Acts, a more general Act and the Public Libraries Act, 1984, apply to the same subject, and there is conflict between the two Acts, then the Public Libraries Act, 1984 will apply. If between a more general Act and the Public Libraries Act, 1984 there is no conflict, then both Acts apply. While it is conceivable in any given instance that virtually any law might be applied to a particular library's circumstances, we have attempted to include only that law which covers the day-to-day legal realities of library operation.

The citator is divided into two sections. The first part is an annotated and alphabetical listing of relevant law. The short title entry is followed by source notes and a list of current amendments. Sections of cited law which seem of particular interest to libraries have been briefly annotated. The second part of the citator is a subject index, in which, under the subject heading, the short title of the law and the section, subsection or paragraph numbers are included.

A general distinction may be drawn between statutes and regulations. A regulation is a form of subordinate legislation, which achieves the force of law from the authority of a statute. Regulations may be made by agencies of the government (e.g., regulations made by a Ministry), by independent local governments (as in municipal by-laws), or they may appear as rules governing the conduct of courts. An important distinction for special purpose bodies, such as library boards, is that regulations do not undergo the full legislative process – as statutes do – and may be changed more frequently than statutes.

This publication is intended only to serve as a pointer to particular Acts, Regulations or cases as of December 31, 1984. The cases are presented as examples of how public library boards have become involved with the legal process. The law, as presented in the cases, is valid but must be interpreted in light of the facts of a particular case as well as in the context of the overall law in that subject area. This citator does not purport to present the totality of the law as it relates to public libraries in Ontario. The annotations should only be read as finding aids (elaborate index terms, if you like) and should not, in any event, be taken to be an interpretation of the law. The authors cannot over-emphasize the importance of a board consulting its lawyer if any legal questions are raised.

The authors would like to express their appreciation for the support of the project provided by Ontario's Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, Libraries and Community Information Branch, the School of Library and Information Science, University of Western Ontario and to Dr. Margaret A. Banks, Librarian-in-Charge, University of Western Ontario Law Library and E.S. Beacock, Adjunct Professor, School of Library and Information Science, University of Western Ontario, for their reading of the manuscript. While we have leaned upon their advice and guidance in developing the citator, its final form, including any errors or omissions, is the responsibility of the authors.

Labour Relations Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.228, as am. S.O. 1983, c.42; 1984, c.34.

This Act governs the operations of unions and employers in Ontario and applies to public libraries when any of the employees have a collective agreement with the board. The area of labour law is vast and complex, so only certain sections of the Act are annotated here. The Act regulates the creation of bargaining units, and the negotiation and contents of collective agreements. Each library board should engage a lawyer to ensure that the intricate requirements of this area of the law are adhered to. Section 3 states that "Every person is free to join a trade union of his own choice and to participate in its lawful activities." Section 64 provides that employers are not to interfere with the formation, selection or administration of unions. Section 66 states that employers are not to discriminate against or to refuse employment to a person because of membership in a union. Section 71(a) requires that employers not engage in strike-breaking misconduct or to hire professional strike-breakers. Section 83 states that "Each party to a collective agreement shall, forthwith after it is made, file one copy thereof with the Minister [of Labour]." Section 96 provides that contravention of this Act is an offence punishable by a fine of up to $1,000 for individuals and up to $10,000 for employers or unions. Continued contravention of an order, injunction, etc., constitutes a separate offence for each day the contravention continues.

This Act defines the practice of law and provides for penalties for illegal practice of up to $1,000. Libraries providing advice in a manner which might be construed to constitute practice of the law may be in contravention of the Act.

Legislative Assembly Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.235, as am. S.O. 1981, c.29; 1982, c.43; 1983, c.50; 1984, c.36.

Section 9 establishes that Members of the Legislative Assembly may not serve as members of a public library board. A board member elected to the Legislative Assembly may remain on the board until the end of the day the election results are published in The Ontario Gazette, at which time the trustee is deemed to have resigned from the board.

Library of Parliament Act

R.S.C. 1970, c.L-7.

Establishes the Library of Parliament.

Lord's Day (Ontario) Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.253.

Ministry of Citizenship and Culture Act

S.O. 1982, c.6.

The Act establishes the Ministry of Citizenship and Culture, which is responsible for the administration of The Public Libraries Act, 1984. The functions of the Ministry are:

- a) to encourage full, equal and responsible citizenship among the residents of Ontario;
- b) recognizing the pluralistic nature of Ontario Society, to stress the full participation of all Ontarians as equal members of the community, encouraging the sharing of cultural heritage while affirming those elements held in common by all residents;
- c) to ensure the creative and participatory nature of cultural life in Ontario by assisting in the stimulation of cultural expression and cultural preservation;
- d) to foster the development of individual and community excellence, enabling Ontarians to better define the richness of their diversity and the shared vision of their community.

Section 9 provides that the Minister can, upon request, inspect any document or record relating to financial assistance given by the Ministry. The penalty for obstructing the Minister or a person acting under the Minister's authority to so inspect is a fine of up to $2,000 for persons and of up to $25,000 for corporations. Section 11(c) provides that the Minister can determine amounts of capital expenditures by a municipality for public library purposes which are financed through the Ontario Universities Capital Aid Corporation and must approve that Corporation's purchase of any municipal debentures issued for public library purposes.

There are many Regulations under the Act. R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 282 covers benefit plans, establishing the principle of “no differentiation” among employees for benefit plan payments in ss.2-9, and in ss.8(c) and 10, regulates the effect of pregnancy leave on benefit plans.

The General Regulations, R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 285, as am., contain definitions and a number of exemptions to the application of the Act. In s.2, high school students in a “work experience program authorized by the school board,” community college students on work programs, inmates and offenders on work orders are exempted. Section 3 covers further exemptions. Section 4(b) exempts those whose work is “supervisory or managerial in character” from the forty-eight hours per week requirement in ss.17 and 18 of the Act. Section 5 exempts students in recreational programs operated by charitable institutions and students supervising children from the minimum wage requirement. Section 6 provides certain exemptions in regard to overtime pay. Section 7 covers public holiday exemptions. Section 12 provides for the determination of “regular rate or regular wages” as regards holidays and irregular schedules. The most recent adjustment to the minimum wage is provided by a 1983 amendment (O. Reg. 802/83) to the General Regulation.

The “Termination of Employment” Regulation, R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 286 provides further conditions and procedures for termination of employment. Sections 1-2 deal with lay-offs. Sections 4-6 specify timing of notices of termination. The Regulation as amended (O. Reg. 495/83; 531/83; 301/84) sets further conditions for termination notices during the first thirteen weeks of employment and for UIC payments and work sharing programs.

Energy Act

(b) any organization for use exclusively in the construction of a building for that organization that is to be used exclusively or mainly as a public library operated by or on behalf of that organization on a non-commercial basis, . . . and the tax imposed by Part V has been paid . . . the Minister may, upon application . . . within two years . . . pay to such institution, organization or corporation an amount equal to that tax.”

Expropriations Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.148, as am. S.O. 1983, c.47.

This Act explicitly applies to the right of public libraries to acquire land with the consent of the appointing council (Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.19(2)). It provides procedures whereby a board may expropriate land required for its purpose. Under the Public Libraries

Act, 1984, a board may not expropriate land without the consent of the appointing council and, under the Expropriations Act, s.5(1)(a), the council is the "approving authority." The procedures and powers set out in the Act are quite detailed.

Fire Marshalls Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.166, as am. S.O. 1981, c.8.

This Act prescribes procedures for fire prevention and safety. Section 9 requires that the Fire Marshall be notified of a fire within three days.

The "Fire Code" (O. Reg. 730/81) specifies that all buildings and premises, unless under construction (and therefore covered by the Building Code) are covered by the provisions of the Fire Code. The Fire Code is meant to prevent fires as well as to develop emergency procedures. Penalties for failure to comply can result, for libraries, in a fine of up to $10,000. Section 8 of the Regulation requires libraries to have a Fire Safety Plan which must include a) emergency fire procedures, including any procedures for evacuation and fire control, b) designation of supervisory staff who must be instructed in fire safety procedures to carry out fire duties, c) the holding of fire drills, and d) the control of fire hazards in the building. The plan must be approved by the Chief Fire Official. A copy must be posted in every floor area and supervisory staff must receive fire emergency procedures. Part 6 of the Regulation requires that every library have portable fire extinguishers, specifies the number required, and provides for their installation, inspection, testing and maintenance. Inspections must take place monthly, and records must be kept of maintenance and testing for each extinguisher. (See also the Regulation "Industrial Establishment," R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 692, s.25, under the Occupational Health and Safety Act).

Gasoline Handling Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.185.

Health Disciplines Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.196, as am. S.O. 1983, c.59.

The Act defines practices and provides penalties relating to the illegal practice of dentistry, medicine, nursing, optometry and pharmacy. Libraries providing detailed advice for remedies and/or treatment in any of these areas may be in contravention of the Act.

Highway Traffic Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.198, as am. S.O. 1981, c.48, c.54, c.72; 1982, c.15, c.28; 1983, c.63; 1984, c.11, c.21, c.61.

This Act, which governs the general operation of motorized vehicles on Ontario roads, applies to any vehicle that a board might operate and to any driver that the board might employ. It covers such a broad range of matters that it is continually updated (nine amendments since 1980). The Regulations under the Act are numerous and are also amended frequently. Care must be exercised that one is examining the "latest law" in regard to highway traffic legislation.

receipts, disbursements, sales, purchases, assets, liabilities and all other transactions affecting the financial position of the corporation. Section 303 provides for penalties up to $1,000 or three months imprisonment, or both, for falsification of minutes, registers or accounts. Section 304 requires that minutes, registers and accounts be kept at the corporation's head office. Section 332 provides for fines of up to $200, except as otherwise provided in the Act, for failure of the corporation, its directors or officers, to comply with the provisions of the Act.

Corporations Information Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.96, as am. S.O. 1982, c.23; 1984, c.3.

Under s.2, public libraries may not carry on business or identify themselves to the public in Ontario by a name or style other than its corporate name unless the name or style is first registered with the Minister of Consumer and Commercial Affairs. The name must be set out in legible characters in all contracts, invoices, negotiable instruments and orders for goods or services issued by or on behalf of the board. Under s.14, failure to do so may result in the board's not being able to uphold a contract in any court in Ontario.

County of Oxford Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.365, as am. S.O. 1982, c.25; 1983, c.5, s.13; 1983, c.66.

Section 138 establishes the apportionment of operating costs for the Oxford county library system.

Curry v. Lakeland Library Region (1980)

3 Sask.R. 364 (Q.B.).

Education Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.129, as am. S.O. 1981, c.47; ss.18-21; 1982, c.20, s.2; c.32; 1984, c.48; c.60.

Section 226 provides for rates for public libraries located in an unorganized territory which is covered by a school division.

Elevating Devices Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.135.

This Act regulates the installation, operation and maintenance of elevating devices for safety purposes. It includes the lowering or raising of people or freight and such devices as elevators, escalators, and stage lifts, among others. Ontario Regulation 229/81, s.23(1) provides that records of tests and inspections of elevating devices are to be kept for at least three years from inspection date. Section 29 of the Act requires that accidents involving licensed elevating devices be reported to the Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations. The Director or Inspector may undertake appropriate investigation.

The Act covers various aspects of employment in great detail, although it specifies that the standards therein established are deemed minimum requirements only. The Act is amended almost on an annual basis, and the Regulations established under it change even more frequently. Sections 10 and 11 concern wage records and specify such data as must appear on pay stubs or be maintained in employee wage records for periods of two years and five years. Section 15 covers vacation pay. Sections 17 and 18 provide for working hours, with a basic pattern of eight hours per day and a maximum of forty-eight hours per week. With approval, the daily hours may be extended from eight to twelve hours. Section 22 requires that "no employee shall work longer than five consecutive hours without an eating period." Section 23 establishes that a minimum wage shall be paid an employee (n.b., the rate of minimum wage is adjusted from time to time through Regulations under the Act). Section 24 permits handicapped employees to be paid at a rate less than minimum wage under certain conditions. Section 25 concerns overtime pay. Section 26 establishes public holidays. Section 29 requires that employees be given vacation with pay. Section 33 provides for equal pay for equal work. Section 34 is concerned with benefit plans. Section 35 establishes the principle of pregnancy leave. Section 40 provides for procedures in termination of employment. Part XIV of the Act specifies offences and associated penalties for contravening the Act. The 1983 amendments prohibit the use of lie detectors in processing applicants for employment; the 1984 amendments enable an employee to elect to be paid severance pay immediately upon the termination of employment or forfeit any right to recall or to elect to maintain the right of recall.

Consolidated Regulations Delivery Regulations

S.O.R./79-538.

Section 5 and Schedule III of these Regulations (made under the Statutory Instruments Act, S.C. 1970-71-72, as am.) provide for delivery without charge of a soft cover Consolidated Regulations of Canada, 1978 to the chief librarian of each public library in Canada.

Copyright Act

R.S.C. 1970, c.C-30, as am. R.S.C. 1970 (2nd Supp.), c.4; c.10, s.65; S.C. 1974-75, c.50, s.47; 1976-77, c.28, s.10; 1981, c.47, s.9; 1980-81-82-83, c.111, Sch. IV, s.5.

Section 3 defines copyright as "the sole right to produce or reproduce the work or any substantial part thereof in any material form whatever, to perform, or in the case of a lecture to deliver, the work or any substantial part thereof in public; if the work is unpublished, to publish the work or any substantial part thereof . . ." Section 5 provides that the term of copyright "shall, except as otherwise expressly provided by this Act, be the life of the author and a period of fifty years after his death." Section 12 deals with ownership of copyright; generally the author is the first owner though there are certain exceptions. Section 17 relates to infringement of copyright – subs. 2(a) contains an important exception: "Any fair dealing with any work for the purposes of private study, research, criticism, review, or newspaper summary" does not constitute infringement. However, Keyes and Brunet, in Copyright in Canada: Proposals for a Revision of the Law (1977), p. 166, stated, "Under the present law, it is doubtful whether the defence of fair dealing is available to librarians who make copies of material for third parties who themselves could claim that defence, e.g., library users engaged in research." Later proposals to revise the Copyright Act, contained in a White Paper entitled From Gutenberg to Telidon (1984), are being studied by a Commons Committee which is scheduled to report by 24 May 1985.

Corporations Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.95, as am. S.O. 1984, c.14, s.26.

Unless otherwise expressly provided, this Act applies to, among others, every corporation incorporated by or under a general or special Act of the Legislature. Public library boards are nowhere expressly exempted, so the Act applies to public library boards. In several instances, this Act provides for matters that are also legislated for in the Public Libraries Act, 1984. If there is a conflict between the provisions of the two Acts, the Public Libraries Act, 1984 applies. But, in situations where both Acts legislate on a subject and there is no conflict between the two Acts, then both Acts apply. Section 13(1) regulates names allowable to corporations and can apply to union public library boards (see also Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.5(3)). Names cannot be the same as another corporation's (i.e., another union public library board); cannot suggest a connection with Royalty without consent; and cannot be objectionable on any public grounds. Section 126 specifies that boards are not to operate for profit. Part IV (ss.228-271) provides for the winding up of a corporation. Section 274 refers to the scope and powers of a board: "A corporation, unless otherwise expressly provided in the Act . . . creating it, has and shall be deemed to have had from its creation the capacity of a natural person and may exercise its powers beyond the boundaries of Ontario to the extent to which the laws in force where the powers are sought to be exercised permit, and may accept extra-provincial powers and rights." Section 275 states that corporations have the power to have buildings and works or to buy and sell land for carrying on its objects. This is subject to Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.19. On the other hand, s.276 specifies that a corporation is not to hold land unnecessary for the corporation's use, occupation or undertakings for more than seven years. Section 279 requires that "A corporation shall have a seal which shall be adopted and may be altered or changed by by-law." Section 280 states that the corporate seal is required for certain types of contracts. Section 282 says that a document requiring authentication by a corporation may be signed by any director (board member) or by an authorized person, and need not be under seal. Section 283 provides that no business of a corporation is to be transacted by its directors (board members) except at a meeting of directors at which a quorum of the board is present. Where there is a vacancy on the board, the board may exercise all its powers so long as a quorum remains in office. Sections 286(4),(5) require that directors be eighteen or more years of age and that they not be undischarged bankrupts. Section 292 states that the acts of a director (board member) or of an officer (chief executive officer) are valid, notwithstanding any defect that may afterwards be discovered in his appointment or qualification. Section 299 requires that minutes be kept of all meetings of directors and of executive committees. Section 300 requires that corporations keep copies of all by-laws and special resolutions and registers of directors setting out name, address and calling for each director, with dates on which he became or ceased to be a director. Section 302 requires that accounting records be kept, including records of

Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing Act

R.S.O. 1981, c.19.

Under the definitions of s.1, the word "municipality" includes a local board as defined in the Municipal Affairs Act (i.e., it includes a public library board).

Moosonee Development Area Board Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.294.

Schedule B permits the Moosonee Development Area Board to provide and maintain library services.

Municipal Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.302, as am. S.O. 1981, c.47, s.23; c.70, ss.23,24; 1982, c.24, c.40, c.50; 1983, c.5, s.1; c.8, s.16; c.41; 1984, c.48; c.56.

This Act is the basic template for local government in Ontario. It is complex and frequently amended. Section 13(4) provides that if a municipality is divided or re-divided into wards, the Ontario Municipal Board (OMB) can require representation on a public library board according to wards as the OMB considers necessary. Section 25(2) establishes certain procedures for the dissolution of a public library board, including a council by-law, public hearing and possibly a vote. Section 48 provides that if a local board cannot meet for two months due to the lack of a quorum, the Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing may declare all seats vacant. This section may not apply to public library boards. Section 71(17) requires that a public library board furnish its board of control with estimates on or before the first of March each year. Section 88 requires that a board submit to council statements audited by a person appointed under this section of the Municipal Act. (See also, Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.24(7)). Section 94(7) provides that the Treasurer and every other officer of a board may be required, before entering the duties of an office, to give security with the premiums for such to be paid by the board. Each year before February 15th, the board must require to see such a bond. Section 100 establishes that a board's retirement allowance to employees be granted in accordance with this section of this Act and with the approval of the appointing council. (See also, Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.22(2)). Section 164(1) requires that county library estimates, as approved by council, be included in the amount required by the county under this section of the Act. (See also, Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.26(1)). Sections 208(46),(47) permit the council to make by-laws for employee pensions. By-laws must be approved by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing. A board shall deduct as required for the plan (e.g. OMERS). (See also, Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.22(2),(3)). Section 208(47)(c) provides that a public library board may establish a plan of sick leave gratuities for employees, so long as upon termination no employee is entitled to more than the lesser amount of either, a) salary wages for one-half the number of days standing to credit, or b) one-half year's wages at the time of termination. Section 208(48)(b) permits a public library board to provide employees with insurance for hospital, medical, surgical, nursing or dental services, as outlined in s.48(i)(ii)(iii) of the Act. Section 49(b) permits a board to pay part or all of OHIP. Section 208(50)(b) permits public library boards to insure employees. Section 210(157) permits council to pass by-laws in respect to lending libraries for profit. Sections 238-251 provide that council may, by by-law, remunerate or pay the expenses of members it appoints to a board (i.e., every trustee under the Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.9). The board itself cannot remunerate trustees except the chairman or vice-chairman and only to an amount es-established by council – although it can supplement other remunerations. Such payments must be reported by the board to the council by the board Treasurer before February 28th of each year. Under s.247, the council or board may purchase insurance. Section 347(1)(b) provides for by-laws passed by trustees of a police village with respect to the “granting of land in aid of public libraries, and may grant money to such public libraries.” Section 357(6) requires that in an improvement district, the trustees who act as council and are appointed by cabinet will be the public library board.

By s.208 of the Act, the “Pension Plan for Municipal Employees” Regulation (R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 678) applies to pensions for employees. (See also the Public Libraries Act, 1984, s.22(2)).

Municipal Affairs Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.303, as am. S.O. 1984, c.48.

Section 1(f) defines a “municipality” and states that a municipality includes local boards. Public library boards are explicitly included under the definition of “local boards.” Section 3 provides that the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs can regulate the various bookkeeping, accounting, auditing, etc. systems of municipalities (and, therefore for this Act, of public library boards). Section 3(i) permits the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs to investigate public library boards. Section 5 provides that the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs may require a municipality to notify all persons on the collector’s roll of payments to the municipality and to local boards (including public library boards). If the municipality fails to comply, the Treasurer of Ontario may withhold that municipality’s provincial grants. Section 9(2) permits the Ministry to order an audit of a public library board, by means of a Ministry auditor or by one so appointed. Section 57 establishes that the OMB and the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs have access at all times to all books, records, papers and documents of a public library board, and may inspect, examine, audit and copy them or any part thereof. Part III of the Act gives the OMB the power to transfer to the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs control over a municipality in default of debt payments. Such control would include control over a municipal public library board, among others.

The “Municipal Auditors” Regulation, R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 680, provides for the licensing and regulation of municipal auditors. Licenses are issued in four classes and allow auditors to serve different sizes of municipalities.

Municipal Boundary Negotiations Act, 1981

S.O. 1981, c.70, as am. S.O. 1982, c.33.

Section 14 provides that as a result of negotiation regarding disputes over municipal boundaries, the Cabinet may order that a board provide services to a neighbouring municipality; may adjust the board’s assets or liabilities; may create, amalgamate or dissolve a board; may order a board to pay money; and may alter the composition and term of office of the board.

S.O. 1983, c.8, as am. S.O. 1984, c.55 (See Appendix III for full text of Act).

This Act provides for procedures whereby members of a public library board must remove themselves from discussion (and, in meetings not open to the public, from the meeting room) if they or their parent, spouse or child has a pecuniary interest in the matter under discussion. Under s.1, the definitions of parent, spouse and child are quite broad. Section 2 defines an indirect pecuniary interest. Section 4 outlines pecuniary interests which it is not necessary to disclose. Section 5 outlines duties of board members to disclose pecuniary interests in matters under consideration, and to remove themselves from the discussion. Section 6 requires that every conflict of interest disclosure be recorded in the minutes. Sections 8-13 provide that an alleged contravention of the duty to disclose a conflict of interest be tried by a judge. Contravention will result in dismissal from a library board and/or, if the member is no longer a board member, in disqualification from being a board member for a period of seven years. If the contravenor acquired personal gain, restitution may be ordered. The matter decided by the board may be made void by the board within two years, unless such action would adversely affect the rights of an innocent party. Section 14 permits a library board to purchase insurance to protect a member who has been charged with contravention of the conflict of interest guidelines and who has been found not guilty of such contravention.

Also, two classes of exemption (para. 45, in part, and para. 70) are not available for public library boards. Section 8 establishes that every vendor is an agent of the Minister and as such, shall levy and collect the taxes imposed by this Act upon the purchaser or consumer.

See also, Canada Gazette (1978) Special Issue Regulations and Consolidated Regulations Delivery Regulations, both of which are made under this Act but are treated as separate entries in this citator.

Story v. The City of Prince George (1979)

11 B.C.L.R. 224 (S.C.).

This case concerns an action against the City of Prince George by a library patron who fell in an icy lane outside the library. The action was dismissed.

Theatres Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.498, as am. S.O. 1984, c.56.

The 1984 amendments to this Act came into force on February 4, 1985. The Act regulates the operation of "theatres" (which, under s.10, would not include public library premises or rooms unless used primarily for film exhibition). It also regulates the general distribution, exhibition and approval of films. Under s.1(a),(b) and 3(5)(a), the Theatres Act creates the Ontario Film Review Board, which has power to regulate the exhibition and distribution of films (including videotapes). The definition of "distribution" demands distribution for direct or indirect gain, and so should not apply to free library film service; "exhibition," however, does include library viewings by the public. Section 4 provides for inspectors appointed by cabinet, who have the power to inspect premises where film (including videotapes) are exhibited. Inspectors also have the power to confiscate a projector or film that is used contrary to this Act. Under s.6, such confiscations are subject to review. Section 38 provides that a film (including videotape) is not to be exhibited unless it has been approved by the Ontario Film Review Board and must be exhibited in accordance with any conditions thereto. Under s.53, a license is required for projection equipment if the film is exhibited in premises which are not licensed as a theatre. Such a license may be refused or revoked under the terms of s.55. As of the date of writing, the Ministry of Consumer and Commercial Relations had not decided whether they will exempt public libraries from this requirement. Such an exemption would appear in the regulations under the Theatres Act.

Third Class Mail Regulations

S.O.R./78-899.

Under s.4(g) of the Regulation (made under the Canada Post Corporation Act, S.C. 1981, c.54, as am. S.C. 1983-84, c.21, s.72), third class mail shall contain no additions, indications or modifications, except:

- i) the title of the work,
- ii) the number of copies asked for or sent,
- iii) the name of the author and publisher,
- iv) the catalogue number,
- v) the number of days allowed for reading, and
- vi) the name of the person wishing to consult the work in question.

Trees Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.510.

This Act regulates conservation and municipal reforestation programs, among other things. It covers municipal by-laws which may affect the planting or removal of trees within municipal boundaries.

Workers Compensation Act

R.S.O. 1980, c.539, as am. S.O. 1981, c.30; 1982, c.61; 1983, c.45; 1984, c.38; c.58.

This Act provides for compensation to injured workers or, in the event of death, their dependents. Public libraries are "Schedule 1" employers, which means that they are required to contribute to the Workers Compensation Board Accident Fund, based on payroll. Section 1(1)(a) defines "accident" for this Act. Under s.(3)(c), the exercise and performance of the powers and duties of a public library board is deemed to be its trade or business. Section 4 specifies contributions to the Accident Fund required of Schedule 1 employers. Section 20 requires that employees report accidents immediately. Section 91(4) states that failure to comply with regulations regarding first aid may result in additional contributions due to the Accident Fund. Section 97 provides for the library, as an employer, to provide statements of wages earned by workers in the previous year and amounts estimated to be earned in the current year (in order to determine Workers Compensation Board pensions). Failure to provide this information makes the library liable for fines of up to $500, plus payment of additional amounts assessable, plus interest. Section 121 states that accidents which disable a worker from earning full wages, or which necessitate medical aid, must be reported to the Workers Compensation Board within three days of the library hearing of the accident. Failure to so report may attract fines of up to $200.

The "First Aid Requirements," R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 950, as am. O. Reg. 525/83 includes s.3 which provides that the library must keep posted in conspicuous places the poster known as Form 82, regarding the necessity of reporting all accidents and receiving first aid treatment. Section 5 requires the library to keep records of all circumstances respecting an accident. Section 6 requires the library to inspect first aid boxes at not less than quarterly intervals and to record the inspection by marking the inspection card. Sections 8-11 cover first aid requirements for libraries which employ various numbers of workers (i.e., s.8, for up to five employees; s.9, for six to fifteen employees, etc.). The General Regulation, R.R.O. 1980, Reg. 951, s.10, requires that the library post and keep posted in conspicuous places whatever cards, etc., are supplied by the Workers Compensation Board.
